A less active City Council?

In wake of election, reduced role proposed

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Granite City voters said, in effect, Tuesday that they want aldermen less involved in the operations of city government.

So Wednesday night, one alderman presented what he called "the first of several proposals (made) in order to comply with the wishes of the public."

Voters decided 3,076 to 1,343 to shrink the City Council to one alderman from each of the seven wards.

The city's annual budget has been prepared and pared in the recent past by the council's Finance Committee during marathon sessions where hundreds of thousands of dollars in proposed expenditures have been axed.

Alderman Craig Tarpoiff, a member of the Finance Committee, proposed Wednesday that the budget be prepared by the mayor and his staff. The times they are a-changin," Tarpoiff said.

Illinois statutes and Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles say the change in council size will take place at the next aldermanic election, in 1995.

But some attorneys and others have said there are questions about the status of the seven aldermen elected last year to four-year terms.

"The voters have said they want us to be policy-setters, legislators, and to provide oversight," Tarpoiff told the council.

"With that in mind, I am proposing that the mayor with his department heads develop the budget, make the necessary cuts, and present it to the Finance Committee for review and submission to the entire council," Tarpoiff said.

Alderman Jim Miller, also a member of the Finance Committee, said the aldermen's sole responsibility should be to either accept or reject the budget as presented.

Mayor Ron Selph said he welcomes the change.

"I see it as my responsibility as the executive branch to prepare the budget," Selph said.

"I don't consider (Tarpoiff's) proposal a slap or anything like that. He is just reiterating the way things should be done," Selph said.

Aldermen said Wednesday night after the meeting that many other changes may be seen in the not too distant future.

"Time is not going to permit things to be done the way they were in the past. There is going to have to be a lot of things done differently," Tarpoiff said.

Among the changes mentioned by some aldermen after the meeting were referring calls from constituents directly to the appro-

Popeye's closes abruptly

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

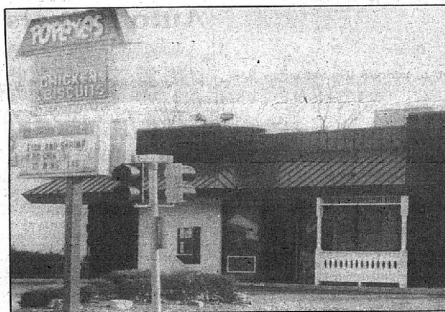

A "partnership that wasn't" between a former mayor and a former police chief of Madison led to the closing last week of a Granite City fast-food restaurant.

Popeye's Famous Fried Chicken restaurant, 2868 Madison Ave., closed without notice. The business was operated by BYS Enterprises Inc., made up of Don Bridick, a former Madison police chief and now a top official in the Madison County Sheriff's Department; Mike Sasyk, a former Madison mayor and current economic development director of Pontoon Beach; and James Young of Sunset Hills, Mo.

The restaurant was opened with the help of a $100,000 economic development loan from Madison County Community Development.

Sasyk, Bridick and Young were sued last April by Magna Bank of Madison County for failing to make loan payments on a 1987 loan for $415,000.

According to the lawsuit, BYS Enterprises was, at the time the suit was filed, eight months behind on its loan payments and owed principal and interest totaling $349,000.

Sasyk said Friday that, although he had signed loan papers with Bridick and had been led to believe that he was a part-owner of the business, he recently discovered that to be untrue.

Sasyk said he discovered he had never actually had an interest in the corporation and had never been listed as an owner on the deed for the Popeye building.

"I thought I was a partner, the third partner, but I found out later that I was actually nothing," Sasyk said.

"I was only the guarantor on the loan. It turns out I never owned anything — I just signed for the money."

Sasyk said Magna Bank now wants Sasyk to take over the building and operation of the business, which Sasyk said had been profitable — from Bridick's BYS Enterprises corpora-

Boy, 6, critically injured

What may have been a dangerous game with traffic proved tragic for a 6-year-old Granite City school boy Thursday morning.

Adam Joseph Dusky, of the 3000 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, was struck by a passing van on Nameoki Road at 7:45 a.m. Thursday when he apparently fell off the curb and into a south-bound traffic lane.

Adam was listed in critical condition Friday afternoon at Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital, St. Louis, where he was flown by helicopter Thursday after being taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The accident occurred at a crosswalk located on Nameoki Road at Victory Drive. No guard works at the crosswalk until 8 a.m.

According to the accident report, Adam's 8-year-old sister told police that Adam and a friend had a habit of playing "chicken" with traffic that Adam sometimes puts his foot in the road and then pulls it back at the last second.

The girl also told police that Adam and a friend sometimes

A friendly hug — A small child gets an early hug from the Easter bunny, who will be making a special benefit appearance at the Granite City Wal-Mart on Highway 3 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, March 26. Children can have their picture taken with the Easter bunny for a $5 donation; an Easter ham will be given away at the end of the day. All proceeds will go to the Phoenix Crisis Center in Granite City to help victims of domestic violence. The center is also looking for people interested in volunteering. For more information, persons may call Donna at 344-2779 or 451-1008.

Suspect arrested near fire site

Police arrested a 49-year-old Granite City man Friday afternoon in connection with a suspicious fire in the downtown area.

The man, a resident of the 1500 block of East 20th Street, was being held in jail over the weekend, pending the filing of a formal charge Monday.

Assistant Police Chief Kip Pomeroy said Friday that witnesses saw the man exit the vacant building at 1911 Grand Avenue just before smoke began coming out of it.

The man was arrested a block away at the Pit Stop Cafe, where Fire Chief Keith Talley detained him until a police officer

'Modest' $27,000 settlement for injury in jail beating

Taxpayers will fork over more than $27,000 in a settlement to a former prisoner who claimed he was repeatedly beaten in the Madison County Jail.

County officials, who originally vowed to keep the settlement amount confidential, released the figure last week after criticism about shielding spending information from residents.

"It is a modest settlement and I think (officials) really felt the information would be of concern to taxpayers," said John Gilbert, an Edwardsville attorney who represented the county.

The lawsuit, filed in U.S. District Court in 1990, sought more than $4 million in damages from the county, Sheriff Bob Church and seven jail employees.

The suit, filed on behalf of former county jail prisoner Mark Urioste of Madison, alleged the sheriff and his employees failed to separate Urioste from cellmates who reportedly beat him several times between August 1988 and January 1989.

"The settlement really only bound the Uriostes to silence," Gilbert said. "The county went along with it to protect the Uriostes' concerns. We felt the taxpayers' concern is valid and the confidentiality was never intended to hide anything."

Urioste's mother, Mary Urioste, has said she agreed not to discuss the settlement but was irritated that it was being kept secret.

"Her comments to the paper indicated to us that it was not a concern of hers," Gilbert said.

Urioste is now serving a 40-year sentence in Menard Correctional Center for the stabbing murder of Rebecca Roger, 21, of Madison.

U.S. Magistrate Judge Gerald Colan, who accepted the settlement Jan. 6, has said it is common to seal settlement information. He said settlements are often kept secret so they will not influence other potential lawsuits seeking damages.

The settlement will be paid from the county's Tort Immunity Fund.

Suspicious — Granite City firefighters extinguish a weed fire along the railroad tracks at the end of 24th Street near the city's water tower. Firefighters believe two young boys started the fire just before 4 p.m. Thursday. A small blue plastic box containing baseball cards was found where the fire ignited.

Madison declares war on city's 'goofy' gum ball trees

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Tired of torn-up sidewalks and "goofy balls" all over the street, the Madison City Council voted unanimously Tuesday to begin cutting down the gum trees in the city.

"I was the city clerk when the nursery guy sat right there and told us that these trees would grow straight down and couldn't have balls," said Mayor John Bellico.

"Now we've got sidewalks buckling (because of the tree roots) and balls all over our city."

Bellico said he has talked to a number of people who cut trees for firewood, but "they don't want our trees — they say they will gum up the flames of the fireplaces."

Because the city's street sweeper has been inoperable for much of this year, the gum balls have collected on the streets and sidewalks.

The aldermen said the balls have become a hazard for people walking on sidewalks or to their cars.

And Alderman Eleanor Armour said sidewalks are buckling all over her ward — in some places for the second time.

Bellico asked the aldermen to authorize the Street Department — on a time-available basis — to begin cutting down the trees.

He said the crews should start in areas where the balls are a hazard to senior citizens or children, but he would eventually like to see all the gum trees removed.

Alderman Mike Vrabec asked if there was some sort of spray available to keep the trees from producing balls.

Alderman Ron Grzywacz said he had heard that question asked of a naturalist at the Missouri Botanical Gardens and the answer is apparently no.

"The guy said there had been a spray, but it is no longer available," Grzywacz said. "He said that, for some reason, no one saved any of the spray and no one knows what was in it."

Vrabec asked if the city could replace the trees. Bellico said trees were available through the state forestry department and that Granite City had been able to get a smaller variety of trees. He said

Madison would look into doing the same thing.

"Well, make sure these trees don't have balls," Vrabec said.

In other business, the aldermen approved an ordinance finalizing the sale of the Hunko Steel property to Hunko Steel for $500,000.

Terms of the sale are cash at closing and Bellico said the closing should take place "in the next two to three weeks."

The aldermen unanimously voted to accept the low bid of $1,100 from Foley Construction for repairs to the city-owned Alpine Village Shopping Center on Madison Avenue. The center is currently occupied by Farm Fresh and the Family Dollar Store.

The aldermen also voted unanimously to have City Attorney Casper Nighossian prepare an amendment to the city animal control ordinance to reflect the city's new policy concerning dead pets.

The new policy requires the city to keep the bodies in a freezer at the city pound for three days and, if they remain unclaimed or unwanted after that period, disposing of them in accordance with the law.

County ditches mileage proposal

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

An attempt to eliminate mileage reimbursements for Madison County Board members was run off the road at the board's meeting Wednesday.

Board member Harold Byers said at the board's February meeting that some board members had been making exaggerated mileage claims to add to their paychecks. The accusations included claiming mileage for driving to the Administration Building in Edwardsville multiple times during a single day and members signing the attendance log for attending committee meetings in which they weren't members.

In an attempt to end the controversy, Byers made a motion Wednesday to add a resolution abolishing the 29-cent per mile reimbursement board members receive, but was unable to get the three-fifths majority vote needed to add an item to the agenda. The actual vote on the measure was 10-13.

Don Garrett, board member from Madison, said the mileage payments are necessary parts of the paycheck of representatives from outside the Edwardsville area.

"There is no way it can be said that anyone is making any money off of mileage reimbursements," Garrett said. "AAA Auto Club says it costs an average of 39 cents per mile to operate a car, and that means we're still losing money driving in to Edwardsville to represent our constituents."

"It probably costs a representative from Edwardsville 50 cents to drive to their meetings at the Administration Building, when it costs me $15. That just isn't fair."

County Auditor Fred Bathon said, however, that representatives are compensated for their efforts through their salaries, and they don't deserve the extra pay.

"(Board members) knew what the requirements of their positions were before they were elected," Bathon said. "People in the business community aren't paid to drive to work, and board members shouldn't be either."

Despite Byers' proposition not getting on the agenda for Wednesday's meeting, however, Byers said he has not given up on getting mileage payments abolished.

He requested that Legislative Committee Chairman Alan Dunstan add a resolution to abolish the payments to his committee's agenda, and bring the question to the county board again in April.

Housing workshop set for Thursday

Those who want to learn more about various aspects of renting a home may be interested in a workshop this week. The Madison County Urban League will sponsor a Housing Education Workshop entitled "Learn Everything You Need to Rent a Home" from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday, March 24, at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets.

The workshop will cover most aspects of renting, home including looking for suitable rental property, the federal Housing and Urban Development rental program, rent subsidy programs, applying for public housing and renter rights and responsibilities.

For more information or to register call the Madison County Urban League at 877-8870.

Art show for high school students

Area high school art students will have a chance to show their best work and compete for more than $1,000 in prizes at the 15th annual High School Invitational Art Show at Belleville Area College.

Between 150-200 young artists from 27 high schools in BAC District 522 are expected to enter their work in the competition and show. A reception will be held at 7 p.m., Tuesday, March 29, in the Upper Hall Gallery of the Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road. Prizes will be presented at a ceremony at 8 p.m.

The artists' work will be on display in the gallery until April 15.

"It is an exciting opportunity for high school students to show their work at the college level," said BAC art instructor Dan Lowery. "It is a celebration of talent and realized potential."

High schools can submit paintings, drawings, photographs, sculptures, and ceramics.

The work will be judged by photographer Don Bivert, a BAC adjunct faculty member.

Area high schools involved in the art competition include Granite City, Madison and Venice.

BAC administrators get pay raise

Administrators and other supervisors at Belleville Area College will see a hike in their salaries this summer.

The BAC Board of Trustees voted at its March 9 meeting to approve a 3.5 percent pay increase for the college's eligible administrative, professional and supervisory staff.

The increase is effective July 1, at the start of the college's new fiscal year.

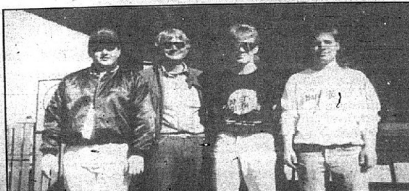

The increase is comparable to one for the college's full-time faculty and staff that the board approved at its October meeting. Those pay increases also become effective July 1.

In other action, the Board of Trustees voted to accept a Programs and Services for Older Persons/DARTS grant in the amount of $40,000 from the city of Belleville.

The grant provides funding to support vehicle expenses incurred in transportation of the elderly.

Mia Farrow, Cher have not changed Carol's life

Carol Clarkin writes this weekly Edwardsville Journal column.

Over the years, I've developed a knack — I hesitate to call it a talent — for mentally turning-off television commercials. Not all of them, of course — I've developed a fondness for this season's Coke-swallowing polar bears, the parrot giving the family kitty award on cat food, and a couple of others. For the most part, though, I can go into instant trance state the second one of those tired old ads hits the screen. I put my mind to work on important things like the grocery list.

So it was most unusual when I failed to hit the mental switch when a commercial for "People" magazine appeared on my TV screen and I learned of a special edition being planned (though I failed to note the date of publication) devoted to "people who have changed your life."

I'm unsure whether these people have purportedly changed lives only in the last decade or over the 20th century. I guess I'd have to buy the magazine to learn that. And I don't think I'll waste my money. Why?

Because the faces flashing across the screen were those of Mia Farrow, Cher and Arthur Ashe. If these three are examples, of the others, as the late Sam Goldwyn would say, "Include me out."

Mia Farrow has indisputably changed some lives, like Woody Allen's and those of her assorted birth/adopted children, but she hasn't laid a dainty finger on mine.

Cher? I've enjoyed some of her songs and some of her acting roles, but changed my life? I haven't even joined whatever health club it is that she works for.

Ashe I've admired and pitied, particularly when his much-desired privacy during his final months of life was so cruelly invaded by the media. But no, he never changed my life.

Throughout history, individuals, indeed, been changed by people those individuals have never met.

Archimedes changed our lives centuries ago. As have Galileo, Boyle, Newton, Faraday, Einstein, Fermi and J. Robert Oppenheimer. Fulton, Edison, Marconi, Bell.

Harvey, Jenner, Pasteur, Lister, Ehrlich, Roentgen, Banting and, in our own time, Salk and Sabin, DeBakey and Barnard.

Statesmen and plain old politicians have changed our lives. Despots and dictators have also done it. In my own life, who changed more lives than Hitler?

"People" magazine, like a lot of people I know, is careless with its terminology. The magazine, its editors, publishers, and certainly the creators of its TV advertising, should know better — and probably do. They might have used the more apt phrase "touched your lives" rather than "changed."

But while "touched" is more accurate, it's not quite as dramatic as "changed" — and drama is what they're seeking.

Nitpicking on my part? Of course it is — nitpicking is one of my less endearing traits and I know it and can't help it. Bred in the bone, I guess.

I've cringed for years when I've heard some local folks talk about the "trustees" at the Madison County Jail, when they mean "trustee."

I would have expected better from those who write — and deliver — the St. Louis television news, but at least twice in the past six months, newscasters on Channel 5 have described the escape from local jails of "trustees." The same news channel late last year used the term "revelry" instead of "revellie."

Last week, the front page of the St. Louis daily carried a headline on a front page story about Illinois Gov. Edgar's proposed budget using the term "Medicare" when the story itself was about Medicaid. Careless editing and a mistake they've made before.

But back to changing my life and the people who've done so. And those who haven't.

I'm sure my parents and brother, my husband and children, my oldest friends have, in countless ways, changed my life. So have circumstances beyond my control.

But the likes of Mia Farrow and Cher? Hardly. Whoever invented the flush toilet changed my life immeasurably more than those two — and I thank him for it.

Faulty logic by surgeon general

TO THE EDITOR:

Though Dr. Jocelyn Elders, the surgeon general, recently requested that legalization of drugs be considered, she is now attacking the tobacco industry for advertising its legalized drug, nicotine.

Did she think the new "drug entrepreneurs," whom we now call drug pushers, would not advertise their legal products?

Drug dealers are some of the most innovative market strategists in the world. Is she under the impression they will all quit the business if drugs become legal? Or does she perhaps intend to legalize drugs for minors, too?

Surely, even the foggy Dr. Elders must see that if alcohol and nicotine — currently illegal for minors — are not healthy, just maybe crack, coke, heroin and cannabis might not be too good for our youths, either.

Another glaring inconsistency was revealed in her speech to a national family planning association Feb. 25, when she called for a joining of the church and state.

She proceeded to upbraid those of Christian, Judae and Islamic faiths for just talking and not "living the life."

This is the same woman who has repeatedly blasted the church for its objections to government policies of sex education, free condoms, and easy abortion which have contributed to the moral decline, teenage pregnancies, and welfare dependencies that she, attorney general and the secretary of Health and Human Services, Dr. Elders now, I suppose, wants to be our national religious leader also. One can only assume she wants the churches to join in her programs without any of that "moralizing," which she repeatedly condemns.

God forbid! Perhaps if our churches had "moralized" longer and louder, we wouldn't be facing these problems now. Dr. Elders' most frightening words were, "I say honestly what I think."

If her comments and speeches are indicative of her thoughts, I am mortified that such a woman fills a top post in our government.

Perhaps we should be even more concerned about the individuals who nominated and confirmed her for this position in the first place. Remember, folks, elections are coming.

Township government is providing necessary social center, bus service

TO THE EDITOR:
This letter is a reply to the question that was published in the Feb. 16 issue of the Granite City Journal: "Is the township necessary?"

Yes, it is! Especially the township center.

The center is the only place that the seniors have for a social life and the companionship of others at meals that are served there.

The township buses are the only means of transportation that is available for many. Some are handicapped and cannot get to a public bus.

What a lonely life for many seniors if they had no other means of getting out of their homes.

We want the township center to continue to operate as it has in the past. We need township government.

Houseplants How to keep 'em healthy from the experts at

FRANK'S
NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Many problems with houseplants arise when it comes to water. Too much or too little can drastically shorten the life of any plant. There's much more to watering plants than simply pouring the same amount on them every now and then. Unfortunately, many people do just that. And these folks' plants will lead a far more strenuous life than their properly-watered counterparts.

The correct watering technique is actually keeping a proper balance of wet and dry at all times. Too dry's no good, we all know that. But too wet's not any better either. We're going to tell you how to keep them just right.

The first time you water any plant, pour it on until water begins to flow out the drainage hole at the bottom of the planter. Make sure the water flows away from the container and doesn't puddle around it. If your container includes a saucer, sit back and wait for all of the water to drain. For most plants, we're talking no more than ten minutes or so.

If the water isn't draining properly, check the bottom hole of the container. It may be blocked, thus preventing proper drainage. This is easily cured by poking a stick of some sort into the hole to loosen the compacted soil that's most likely the culprit.

Okay, everything's right. Now when is the right time to water again? Don't go by the clock or calendar! The old saying that plants need to be watered every day is not necessarily accurate. To find out if the plants need water, test them! Wait until the soil just below the surface is barely moist, at least if you're using a smaller container. By small, we mean something less than 10 inches in diameter. If you're using a bigger one, wait until the soil one to two inches below the soil is barely moist.

Try to avoid using a container without any drainage holes in the bottom. If the water can't drain properly, it will accumulate in the bottom of the container, and it can cause root rot. Not exactly the healthiest thing for your plants. Self-watering containers are something you may want to consider. If you're forgetful now and then, they're perfect.

What it all boils down to is this. Don't water the plants just because you did yesterday. Give 'em water when they need it and they'll provide long-lasting beauty in return.

Proper lighting is as important to houseplants as water. Too much or too little can mean an untimely demise for them. Since many people aren't exactly sure what's right and what isn't, let's shed a little light on the subject.

Few homes offer perfect lighting conditions for plants. There are ways you can create a more plant-oriented lighting scheme without disrupting the entire household. For example, if you have a lamp that's on nearly every night, place the plant near it. If you have spotlights or track lighting, you can aim one or two of them at the plant. This is usually easier than moving the plant around the house.

For permanent, all-purpose plant lighting, fluorescent tubes are the way to go. Get the cool-white tubes, and use reflectors to direct more light at the plants. The lights should be located one to two feet above the plants.

How long should the lights be left on? Depends on the type of plants. Foliage plants need about 12 hours of light per day, while flowering ones require about 16.

County may deny Roxana grant

Cutting a deal with Laidlaw Waste Systems Inc. against the wishes of the county government may cost Roxana a county grant aimed at helping municipalities dispose of yard waste.

The village is seeking a $14,000 grant to buy a leaf vacuum, but Madison County Board member Dick Worthen of Alton, chairman of the Environmental Control Committee, is encouraging fellow committee members to reject the application.

Worthen cites the role the village played three years ago in helping Laidlaw expand its Roxana Landfill.

"They signed an agreement in direct contravention of what the county intended and made it difficult for us to implement our (solid waste management) plan," Worthen said at a committee meeting March 10.

"I consider it a direct slap in our face and I consider it an attempt to undermine our stance. That's the kind of behavior which should not be rewarded," he said.

When Laidlaw first proposed expanding the landfill three years ago — when it was in unincorporated Madison County — county officials rejected the plan, which was opposed by environmentalists and others concerned about potential ground water contamination.

After the county rejected the expansion, Laidlaw approached Roxana about annexing the landfill and allowing the proposed expansion.

As part of the deal, the company offered Roxana 2 percent of the revenues generated at the facility plus other benefits, such as free curbside recycling and some infrastructure improvements near the landfill for future development.

County officials challenged the arrangement in court but failed because state law gives local governments sole authority to approve landfill sites and expansions.

The court ruled the county had no power to intervene, since the landfill had been placed within village limits. The expansion got under way last spring after years of court battles and a lengthy state permit process.

The county committee delayed action on the proposal because only three of five members were present.

Worthen called for a vote to reject the grant, but committee members Ray Romine of Granite City and Kent Scheibel of Holiday Shores said they wanted to wait until all five members were present before voting.

"I'd like to get a feel for what the other two think about this. I don't want this to be a vote taken without the full representation available," Scheibel said.

"For what it's worth, I believe the county does receive some (landfill) tipping fees from Laidlaw on behalf of the village so it's not like the county is losing money because of the setup we have with the company," a Roxana official said.

But Worthen said the village should use the revenues it receives from Laidlaw to buy a leaf vacuum.

The leaf vacuum would cost $17,700. Under the terms of the environmental grant program, the county would pick up 80 percent of the cost.

Write-in efforts mar ballots

Ballot pages in about eight voting booths had to be replaced Tuesday after voters marred them by writing candidates' names on them.

The problem, which involved two voting booths in South Roxana, is common when write-in candidates are seeking office, said Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

"Instead of using the space on the envelope, they write on the ballot pages," Bowles said. "One time in Wood River, we had to replace 97 pages."

Election judges at the South Roxana Village Hall discovered two voting booths with the name of Marvin Kraut, a write-in candidate for Democratic precinct committeeman, written on ballot pages with an X next to the name.

Bowles said judges were told to cover the written name with white tape or stickers until the pages could be replaced. "We noticed it about noon and put address labels over it until they brought us new pages," South Roxana election judge Robert McDowell said. "It could not have been there for more than a half-hour."

Kraut lost in his write-in bid for Democratic precinct committeeman in Chouteau Precinct 2. Forrest Dhue garnered 71 votes and Kraut got 31 write-in votes after four ballots were tossed out as spoiled.

Two County Board members are ousted

Although two Granite City area members of the Madison County Board survived challenges in Tuesday's election, the board will have at least two new members after next November's general election.

Incumbents Darrell Riley of Alton and Michael Semanisin of Maryville were knocked off in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Political newcomer Rick Facin, 40, of Alton will be the candidate for the District 10 County Board seat after soundly defeating Riley. Facin, area director of Catholic Charities, garnered 597 votes to 187 for Riley, according to unofficial returns. Riley, 67, has served on the board since 1988.

Maryville Police Chief Don Sonnenberg defeated Semanisin 566-499 for the Democratic nomination in District 27.

Don Metzler was unopposed for the Republican nomination in that district.

Locally, incumbents Herbert "Junior" Milton and Donald Bea defeated Democratic challengers in Tuesday's election. Milton received 598 votes to 293 for Tom Skubish and 225 for Gary Miller in the District 22 race, according to unofficial returns. In District 25, Bea defeated Ronald Gallus by a 666-283 vote.

Another area incumbent, Donald Garrett of Madison, was not challenged for the Democratic nomination in District 23.

Route 66 tour to start in area

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

On June 11, the Route 66 Association of Illinois will be "getting its kicks" in Collinsville.

The association is kicking off its fifth annual motor tour on that day from Fairmont Park. About 500 people driving cars of all ages and varieties are expected to take part.

The group chose to start this year's motor tour in Collinsville to put a different spin on the event, said Debbie Moore of Hillsboro, a Route 66 Association Board member.

"We were afraid that the tour was kind of stagnating," Moore said last week. "We'd gone from Chicago south to the St. Louis area for four years in a row."

The event should help rev up business for local motels, restaurants and gas stations, said Sallie Jo Burton of the Collinsville Convention and Visitors Bureau. Burton said many of the participants will be staying overnight here, and she already has mailed out about 300 guides to local accommodations.

"It will be real nice for us," she said. Burton said the schedule of events planned for the association "hasn't been glued down yet." But she and Moore both said there will be a kickoff party from 6-9 p.m. Friday, June 10, at the Silvermoon, and that many participants also are expected to take in a show at Art Viel's Comedy Etc.

Participants in the two-day tour will leave Fairmont Park at about 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, June 18, and proceed on Route 40 to Illinois 157. Stops the first day include Hamel, Staunton, Mount Olive and Farmersville, followed by an evening banquet in Lincoln.

The tour will eventually work its way north and east to Chicago, with street fairs, parades, car shows and music at stops along the way.

Both Route 40 and Illinois 157 were once part of the old U.S. Route 66, which crossed the country from coast to coast, Moore said.

Anyone with a car is welcome to join the tour. The entry fee is $25 for those who are not members of the Route 66 Association. Participants get a "passport" that is stamped at each stop on the tour.

"They can take in as much or as little as they want," Moore said. "They can just go to Staunton and turn around, or whatever they want."

Participants can pre-register during the kick-off party at the Silvermoon, or can register beginning at 7 a.m. June 11 at Fairmont Park, Moore said.

And she invited area residents to come down for the beginning of the motor tour.

"We hope a crowd will be there to see them off," she said.

The aim is to provide information for those who are interested in learning more about diabetes, and are taking a more active role in managing it.

The course is taught by a certified diabetes nurse educator, dietitian and pharmacist, and will meet in the Wiseman Room on the first floor of the west wing at SEMC, 2100 Madison Ave.

- Topics at the class will include:

- Restaurant dining.
- Fast food.
- Label reading.

Aviation facility called vital for area

Belleville Area College President Joseph J. Cipri said a new facility being built to house aircraft for the school's aviation maintenance technology program could be vitally important to the future economy of the region.

A groundbreaking ceremony was held recently at the Granite City Campus for the new 9,600-square-foot building that will serve as storage space for the aircraft and aircraft parts used in laboratory training.

Because the joint civilian and military airport under construction at Scott Air Force Base is expected to bring hundreds of jobs to the Metro East, aviation and aviation maintenance will play a major role in the area's economy, Cipri said.

"We want those positions to be filled by well-trained, well-educated Belleville Area College graduates," he said. "We maximize our students' chances of winning these positions in a highly competitive job market by improving an already successful program."

The BAC Board of Trustees approved the construction project in January.

Leo Wolf Construction of Granite City was awarded the building contract for the $292,000 project. The new building will be located outside the main classroom building between the new Industrial Training Center and the cafeteria.

Leo Wolf Construction is also the contractor working on the Industrial Training Center. That project should be completed in time for fall classes to start in August.

Currently, the aviation maintenance program operates in about 12,000 square feet of classroom and laboratory space, not counting the space used outside to store the aircraft, said Gregg Sweetner, program coordinator.

The new facility will almost double the amount of space of the program, to meet new FAA regulations.

Illinois Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Troy, and former Illinois Senator Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, attended the ceremony as well.

During the ceremony a moment of silence was observed in honor of the late Bruce Mueller, an airworthiness inspector for the Federal Aviation Administration. Mueller, who died recently, was instrumental in the planning stages of the new Aviation Maintenance Building.

Construction began on the project in March and is expected to be completed by late April.

For more information about the aviation maintenance program, call Gregg Sweetner at 931-0600, extension 661, or toll-free in Illinois at 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 441.

Miller's Lite Ice beer now available in area

Beer drinkers in the Granite City area now can try the country's first low-calorie ice beer, Lite Ice, from Miller Brewing Company.

"It only makes sense for Miller, the creator and leader of the light-beer category, to introduce the first premium low-calorie ice beer," said Scott Barnum, Miller low-calorie category director.

Lite Ice is being distributed in Granite City by Vesco Distributing.

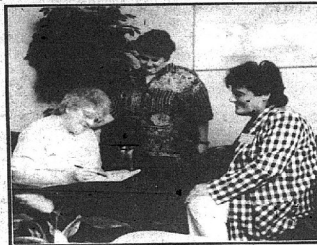

"This new beer has all the bold attributes of an authentic Canadian-style ice beer. It's 100 percent ice-brewed to give beer drinkers more of what they want in a beer, and because it's light, less of what they don't," he said.

Lite Ice joins the Miller ice-beer line, which includes Icehouse, America's first domestic premium ice beer from Miller's Plunk Road Brewery, and Molson Ice, a Canadian import.

"Lite Ice contains the purest and freshest ingredients. Just before aging, its temperature is lowered to below freezing. Ice crystals form to seal in Lite Ice's bold yet smooth flavor. The beer has 125 calories and an alcohol content of 5.5 percent by volume," Barnum said.

Champion on wheels

Marathon wheelchair winner to speak at BAC event

Jean Driscoll, four-time winner in the women's wheelchair division of the Boston Marathon, will appear at BAC on Tuesday, March 29, as part of Disabilities Awareness Week.

Jean Driscoll is the reigning four-time champion of the Boston Marathon. Yet she has never set foot on the streets of Boston.

Driscoll, 57, of Champaign has literally rolled to victory every year since 1990 as champion of the marathon's Women's Wheelchair Division. And, if that feat wasn't impressive enough, her winning time has set a world record in each of the four years. Driscoll will talk about her experiences in the Boston Marathon and about growing up with spina bifida when she appears at Belleville Area College's Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, at noon on Tuesday, March 29.

Driscoll's appearance is part of the college's celebration of Disabilities Awareness Week, three days of special activities and events designed to educate BAC students and the public about people with disabilities. Disabilities Awareness Week is being sponsored by the college's Special Services Center.

In addition to her four Boston Marathon wins, Driscoll won a silver medal in an exhibition 800-meter race at the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain. That's not bad work for someone who did not start racing competitively until 1987.

Originally from Milwaukee, Driscoll moved to Champaign in 1987 to attend the University of Illinois. Shortly before arriving on campus, she met Marty Morse, coach of the UI Wheelchair Racing Team, and, according to Driscoll, one of the best wheelchair racing coaches in the world.

"There are people from Africa, all over the world, who want to come here just so they can train with Marty," Driscoll said.

Morse is so highly regarded because of his scientific approach to coaching, Driscoll said.

"Marty focuses a lot on biomechanics. He was instrumental in developing a special type of glove, like a boxer's glove, that you use to punch the push lever," she said. Driscoll started using a wheelchair in 1982 after it became apparent that her leg muscles would no longer function as a result of spina bifida.

"There's a break in the spine and the growth of the nerve endings were interrupted," Driscoll said in describing the condition she's had since birth. Driscoll said she surprised her skeptical doctors by even walking at all, albeit with leg braces, when she was very young.

"I was a very, very active child. I had to keep up with my brothers and sisters," she said.

Driscoll also spent a lot of time laid up, however, with broken legs on three different occasions. Her spina bifida caused her leg bones to be very brittle, making them more susceptible to breaks.

Driscoll won her first race in 1989 in Spokane, Wash. In October of that year, she entered the Chicago Marathon, and to her great surprise, she placed second, posting a time of one hour and 59 minutes.

Over the past four years, she has chopped a full 25 minutes off that pace, setting a world-record time of 1:34:50 at the 1993 Boston Marathon.

Driscoll's athletic goals are to win every Boston Marathon through 1996, and then win a gold medal at the 1996 Summer Olympics in Atlanta. Her professional goals are to continue on the public speaking circuit and, hopefully, get into the broadcasting field.

While she enjoys public speaking, Driscoll also does it because she wants to deliver a message: that having a disability is not a major obstacle and it is not something that merits pity or sympathy.

"To me, a disability is a characteristic, just like hair color or eye color,"

"I don't think (the restaurant) is closed forever," Sasyk said. "I'm willing to take it on."

"But I want some guarantee that Donnie Bridick keeps up the interest payments and takes care of some other things. When that happens, it will reopen."

Betsy Eck, a spokesperson for Magnus Bank, would not comment Friday on the status of the loan nor the future plans for the restaurant.

Reached Friday, Bridick declined to comment on the restaurant or its closing and referred all questions to his attorney, Mark Goldenberg of Granite City.

Goldenberg was out of town and his office said no one else could comment on the case.

In March 1993, Bridick, Sasyk and Young were sued by Madison County Community Development for defaulting on the $130,000 economic development loan, but the suit was dropped less than a week later when Bridick made a $16,561 payment to cover the overdue payments.

That suit also said that the partners had failed to meet the community development loan requirement to hire 20 low-income workers.

Cheryl Jonett of Madison County Community Development said Friday that the Popeye loan has now been paid.

prairie city department; making the street superintendent position appointed, possibly as soon as May 3; examining the investment practices and policies of the city treasurer; and continuing to phase out township government.

Those changes, as well as other suggestions such as adopting a manager or administrator form of government, are contained in the Melville Strategic Management Review of Granite City and Granite City Township Operations.

The questions regarding form of government and making the street superintendent, treasurer and city clerk appointed rather than elected positions will be the subject of a public hearing at 7 p.m. Wednesday at City Hall.

The hearing is the second in a series being conducted by the aldermanic Legal and Legislation Committee regarding implementation of the Melville recommendations.

Alderman Dan Partney has said that the suggestions should be put on the ballot in November to let voters decide how they want to be governed.

President Cindy Whitt chaired the February meeting of St. Elizabeth's Ladies Sodality.

New members Peggy Law and Mildred Noth attended, along with guest, Mary Sturdivant making a total of 41 ladies present.

Bootsie Schrenk stated plans for the Men's Communion Breakfast on Feb. 27. President Whitt announced there would be a Confirmation Reception on Sunday, May 15.

Jan Polach reported on the September 24-25 trip with a mystery train ride and visits to other sites slated to go to Cape Girardeau. Many ladies are signed up to go and there is a waiting list.

There will be a bake sale after the Masses on Saturday, March 26, and Sunday, March 27, at which home-baked bread, as well as cakes and pastries, will be sold.

The deadline for a high school senior to apply for the Ladies Sodality Scholarship is April 1. Applications are available at the rectory.

On March 13, at 7 p.m. at St. Elizabeth's church, a musical drama entitled "The Witness" on the life and death of Christ, will be presented. There will be a reception in the church basement after it is over. The public is invited to attend.

A mother-daughter banquet will be held in May for all seven girl scout troops in the parish.

Prizes for the evening went to Ann Barry for quilt of the Month; Carmen Schwartz for attendance; Betty Goldschlag for Madonna; and Linda Bukovac for the Pot of Gold.

President Whitt thanked the hostesses for the evening, who were Agnes Kelahan, Beulah Gaugen, and Sylvia Winfield. Next month's meeting will be the 22nd anniversary of the sodality. Members are always welcome.

Charles Chambers

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Charles D. Chambers, son of Thomas and Gloria Chambers of Venice, is deployed aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Normandy, homeported in Staten Island, N.Y., which recently participated in an emergency night evacuation of a ferry passenger while on patrol in the Adriatic Sea for NATO Operation SafeGuard.

USS Normandy responded to a

VHF radio call from the Cyprus-flagged passenger ferry Hornbeam, requesting emergency medical assistance. Normandy quickly discovered that a 31-year-old male passenger bound for Slovenia had collapsed and was showing no signs of life. Within 25 minutes one of the cruiser's two SH-60B helicopters responded to the crisis.

Naval forces are prepared to fight promptly and effectively, but they will serve in an equally valuable way by engaging day-to-day as peacekeepers in the defense of American interests. Naval forces are unique in offering this form of international cooperation from the sea.

The 1991 graduate of Venice High School joined the Navy in July 1991.

William Goodman

Marine Private First Class William T. Goodman, son of Toni V. Goodman of Granite City, recently completed the automotive organizational maintenance course.

During the course at Marine Corps Service Support Schools, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C., students are taught the technical knowledge and functional skills needed to efficiently perform inspections, diagnostic tests, adjustments, services and repairs to tactical motor transport equipment under garrison or field operating conditions.

He joined the Marine Corps in February 1993.

Hayes Wright

Private Wright has received the Army's written guarantee that he will receive training in the job specialty of his choice, petroleum supply specialist.

Wright, who is a 1989 graduate of Edwardsville High School, will take advanced individual training at Fort Lee, Va., reporting for duty May 19.

He is the son of Evelyn Love of Venice.

Douglas Norton

Douglas A. Norton Jr. of Granite City has joined the U.S. Army, according to his recruiter, Staff Sergeant Ronald Pannemaker of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station. Private Norton has received the Army's written guarantee that he will receive training in the job specialty of his choice, heavy wheel vehicle mechanic.

Norton, who is a 1992 graduate of Granite City High School, will take basic and advanced training at Fort Jackson, S.C., reporting for duty March 16.

He is the son of Douglas Norton Sr. and Deborah Norton of Granite City.

Thomas Parnley

Thomas J. Parnley, son of James and Valerie Parnley of Granite City, enlisted in the Air Force, according to Staff Sergeant Scott Schroeder, Air Force recruiter.

Upon successful completion of the Air Force's six-week basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Texas, Parnley is scheduled to receive technical training in the mechanics aptitude career field.

Parnley, a 1994 graduate of Granite City High School, will be earning credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

IC students at model UN

Todd Pryor, a junior at Illinois College from Granite City, has been selected to serve as a delegate of the Iran group at the 1994 Midwest Model United Nations session in St. Louis.

More than 800 students from across the Midwest, representing 70 colleges and universities, will gather for the four-day event. Richard T. Fry, professor of history and political science at Illinois College, said IC has taken part in the international forum for the past 29 years.

Pryor, a political science major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pryor of Granite City.

According to Fry, the delegates will work on various committee assignments and help draft resolutions dealing with specific problems. This year they expect to address such global issues as the ongoing strife in Somalia, economic development, regional conflicts and human rights.

Voellinger'Clearinghouse' can be a bother

If you are glued to the tube, so to speak, during the NCAA tournament, you will have an opportunity to see and listen to a television commercial referring to "the clearinghouse."

The clearinghouse is the NCAA's name for its method to clear student-athletes prior to their accepting scholarships from Division I and II member schools.

SPECIFICALLY, it is a change in NCAA eligibility requirements that has been established for review of core courses and high school transcripts.

To be able to compete in collegiate sports on the I or II level, high school seniors in the 1994-95 school year MUST obtain a brochure from the clearinghouse (available at every high school), complete a student release form and submit this form along with $18 payment to the clearinghouse based in Iowa City, Iowa.

If a student received a fee waiver for the ACT or SAT test, he/she may also receive a waiver of the $18 fee.

Regardless of the waiver, the $18 and the associated paperwork has struck this writer's crew, and I wasn't alone.

According to Dennis Grimmer, the current athletic director at O'Fallon High and successor to Bob Bellina as that school's principal in 1994-95, "the clearinghouse is more bureaucracy."

"THAT'S WHAT I'VE heard from our guidance department," Grimmer said.

After hearing that, I contacted O'Fallon guidance department chair Dorothy Bosworth, one of the most respected persons in her field in the state.

Dorothy, you see, was most instrumental in helping this parent with the proper procedures when it came to my daughter Beth, a senior at Belleville Althoff, getting a college basketball scholarship to St. Louis U.

"At this point, the clearinghouse had not communicated enough," said Bosworth. "It is very confusing to students, coaches and athletes."

My complaint — one that was relayed to Calvin Symons, manager of the clearinghouse, at a recent meeting of high school and college officials at Belleville Area College — was that my daughter wasted $18.

RECRUITED BY several colleges as a multi-sport athlete, Beth was informed that the clearinghouse was optional for '94 graduates but still filled out papers last August and sent off her $18 fee.

Yet, on each official recruiting visit there was no evidence of the clearinghouse having sent out her scores — a matter that did not bother any of the collegiate officials.

In response, Symons said: "I am aware that a lot of people (See NCAA, Page 2B)

Trojan track team
sprints into season
Madison blending youth, speed in Steptoe's 26th yearBy Mike Kelly
Correspondent

Charles Steptoe wants to go out in style.

Entering his 26th year as the boys track coach at Madison High School, Steptoe feels what could be his final team has the tools to put together a successful season.

"It's hard to say which team will be my last," said Steptoe, who took over the track program in 1969. "But one of these days, I'm going to hang it up. It's crossed my mind and this season could be it, but we'll see what happens when the time comes."

"Right now, I'm concentrating on the season at hand. We have what you would call a young team, but one that can be very good."

But the Trojans stumbled in their first outdoor meet of the season. Madison finished third in a triangular meet Wednesday at O'Fallon. The Trojans only mustered 25 points. O'Fallon won the meet with 96 points and Jerseyville was second with 51. But Madison was impressive in the relay events.

Warrior guard Jason Black averaged just less than 17 points per game this season.

GCHS seniors
Mosby, Black
voted All-SWCBy R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

From the beginning of their senior basketball seasons, Larren Mosby and Jason Black knew the pressure to perform would be on them.

And they delivered for the Warriors, leading Granite City to a second-place finish in the Southwestern Conference. Game after game, Mosby and Black were counted on to lead the Warriors — who had no starter taller than 6'3".

The senior duo came up with enough clutch performances to be honored by league coaches in postseason conference balloting. Mosby, a 5-9 point guard, was named Co-Player of the Year along with Collinsville's John Curry Black, a 6-1 small forward, was a second-team selection.

ROUNDING OUT THE first team were Cory Garcia of Collinsville, Michael Harmon of East St. Louis and Belleville West's James Brewer.

The second team was made up of Black, Doug Davinroy of Collinsville, Nathan Vineyard of Belleville West and East Side's Jermaine Perkins and DeMarcus Chapman.

For Mosby, who averaged 19.3 points per game this season as a third-year starter, the honor was something that he did wonder about after the Warriors were eliminated by East St. Louis Lincoln in the Collinsville Sectional.

"After the season, I was saying (See SWC, Page 2B)

Two of a kind

Mosby, Cavaness finish careers as area's bestBy Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Larren Mosby and Jamie Cavaness share the same age, the same school colors, sometimes lunch, and most important, a love for basketball.

The two Granite City High School seniors now have something else in common. Both were recently voted by opposing basketball coaches as the Player of the Year in the Southwestern Conference. And their top billing might go even beyond that.

Several coaches have referred to both as the best players in the Metro East area in their respective sports. Both led their teams to winning seasons and closed out their careers in style.

Cavaness entered the season as the area's most dominant girls player and put together her best season in four years with averages of 23 points and nine rebounds per game. The 6-2 center, along with sophomore guard Denise McMillan, carried the Lady Warriors to a 14-9 record.

MOSBY BEGAN THE year as the top point guard in the conference, but he was not considered to be the area's top player. But by the end of the season, many coaches were touting Mosby with the surnames label given to Cavaness.

The two seniors finished the year at the top of their game. But perhaps most impressive was the fact Mosby and Cavaness took their teams to another level throughout their time at GCHS. When they graduate later this year, they will leave the school as two of the most gifted players to ever play for Granite City.

Put simply, Mosby and Cavaness made basketball season at GCHS something to behold this year.

"When you put them together, I don't know of many kids that have done what they have," GCHS boys coach John Van Buskirk said. "It's nice for the school."

"What great role models they were this season. You have to think that Larren and Jamie have inspired younger players, maybe even junior high kids, to become a better player."

INSPIRATION IS WHAT made Mosby and Cavaness the players they are today. For Mosby, it all began during his sophomore year, when he (See SENIORS, Page 2B)

Trojanettes on track for success
Collins looking to combine youth, versatilityBy Mike Kelly
Correspondent

It could be a make or break season for the Trojanettes track team.

Madison High is facing a rebuilding year, but first-year coach Al Collins has a positive outlook on the upcoming season. Collins, is taking over for Gene Briggs — who stepped down last year after coaching nine state champions in 14 years with the program.

"We're extremely young and we're not real deep," Collins said. "But we have some versatile athletes that will pick us up in a number of events. It's still too early to tell what's actually going to happen. But as the season progresses, I feel we'll put together a competitive team."

SENIOR JOI WOODFORK will lead the Trojanettes this season. A state qualifier in the 300-meter hurdles last year, Woodfork will handle the 100- and 300-meter hurdles this season. She'll also be a member of the 300-meter relay team.

"My goal is to get back to state," Woodfork said. "I want to place in the 300 hurdles this season. I just missed placing by five seconds last year."

SOPHOMORE CHRISTINA SHORT is probably Madison's best athlete. Short is an excellent sprinter and a solid long-distance runner. She will also throw the discus for the Trojanettes.

"Christina is a hard worker," Collins said. "She has an outstanding attitude. I hope her enthusiasm will rub off on the rest of the girls."

Junior Lalasha Montgomery will run the 400- and 800-meter dash, and she will be a member of the 1600-meter relay team. Sophomore Summer Williams, freshman Shayla Wiley, junior Sherry Griggs, freshman Carmanisha Samuels and junior Shannon Short round out the roster.

"Those girls have the potential to be very good," Collins said. (See TRACK, Page 2B) came in at 1:40. Young captured the 400-meter dash in 58.9 and senior Edmund Butler was third (55.0). Weathers was second in the 100-meter dash (23.5) and Dixon finished third (33.6).

But the first meet of the season, and considering how cold it was, our times were pretty good," Steptoe said. "These kids love track. They wouldn't be out here if they didn't. They have a lot of desire and a serious attitude."

These kids want to go to the state meet (on May 28 at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston).

The Trojans failed to produce a state qualifier last season. Grade problems before the sectional meet may have destroyed any chance Madison might have had. But Steptoe has learned over the years to put the past where it belongs.

"THIS IS A new season," he said. "We're not concerned about last year. Our only concern is the present. We have 18 meets on our schedule that will challenge us, both physically and mentally. But I'm confident this group will be ready by sectional time."

Madison's strong suit will be the sprint and relay events. Steptoe's catalysts are Young, Butler, Weathers and senior Eugene Williams.

"Those are my four horses," Steptoe said. "They're the veterans on this team and I hope they can influence the younger guys. We need a strong combination of youth and experience to be successful."

Sophomore Reginald Storde and junior Devonne Burrell will handle the field events. Junior Anton Anderson and senior Delreese Meeks are Madison's best long-distance runners. They'll also handle the middle-distance events.

Sophomore Harvell McDonald is Madison's best threat in the high jump. He knicked the bar at 6 feet last season. Freshman Taquan Bell, junior Rasendo Meeks and freshman Joel Meeks round out the roster.

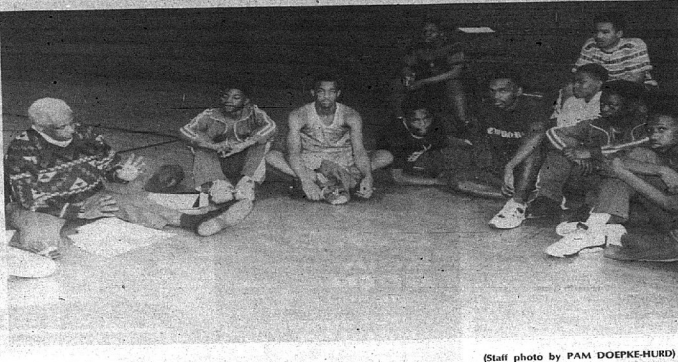

"We've had a successful tradition here (a second-place finish at state in 1978, a third-place finish in 1987 and a fourth-place trophy in 1979)," Steptoe said. "We might not get the recognition we deserve, but our kids have brought a lot of pride to this school and this community."

NOTES: The Trojans ran at the Sakhi Indoor Invitational on Saturday at Carbondale. Details of that meet will appear in Wednesday's Journal.

Madison will host St. Louis Gateway Christian and Cahokia at 4 p.m. on Monday at Sam Dymas Field.

Sunday, March 20
Happy spring equinox! As the sun enters Aries, spring officially begins — so you can stop tap-dancing around relationship issues. Handle gender gaps with humor.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A surprising personal realization will change your week for the better. A sweetheart lavishes attention on you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A love interest makes generous promises and will honor his or her word. Keep in close touch with your family.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) You'll find several new ways to convey your feelings of romance without going overboard.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) You gain the upper hand in a close relationship. Give some thought to relocating.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Exercising your free, creative spirit is the best way to heal yourself. An Aries shows affection.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (March 20) You've made choices in love that prove to be 100 percent correct this month. Financiers are found for April's projects. A major burden on your bank account is lifted in June. Embrace a new promotion this summer, and it will lead to even more money by September.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Donating your skills this week is more than rewarding. Tough temperaments soften because of you — and your family is grateful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may be more comfortable in the woodwork, but your role will be duly recognized. Step forward in a political realm.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Your opinion holds weight, but voice it with discretion. Seeking the most qualified financial advice pays off this week.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Broad solutions solve relationship snags. You change your mind about romance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your competitive edge is softened by a charismatic friend. An afternoon tryst goes late into the night.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You are not fooled by plays. Your family seeks your advice on all meaningful matters.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Your career is inching along even during this down time. Call your parents.
